

Stock Trading GBP gained 1.41% during September; the performance was helped by the accounts benchmark the FTSE 100 as it rallied 2.27% in the month. Looking closer at recent statistics, this investment has filed 20 gaining months and 4 losing months during the past two years. As such, it holds its own as one of the least volatile equity-based investments which actively trades stocks listed on the UK market.

The above is one of the reasons for its popularity with members, the second being its out performance. The accounts benchmark, the FTSE 100, has gained just 7.36 % in the two years to the 1st of October, in stark comparison this investment has recorded a 46.91% gain. The continued outperformance of course underlines the success of RIO's trading strategy, but it also has brought attention to the upside potential which can be derived when you selectively trade UK stocks. The risk-reward ratio measured over the 24 month period is 14.53-1 which is well above the 6:1 ratio which is regarded as a good risk-reward ratio.

The Market - London stocks rose as September drew close, and investors mulled over upbeat UK growth data. At 08:40 BST, the FTSE 100 was 0.8% firmer at 7,659.93, while the sterling was up 0.4% against the dollar at 1.2248 after figures from the Office for National Statistics showed that the economy grew more than initially estimated in the first quarter. The statistics for the UK GDP have been revised higher and are now estimated to be 1.8% above pre-pandemic 2019 levels.

Many people have commented on Stock Trading and its trading record, after all this investment has delivered gains of 18.39%, 46.91%, 93.59% and 107.46% in the one, two, three and five-year periods.

This investment account has certainly rewarded members who have remained invested since the product launch in June 2016 with a net gain of 217.96%. That said, it must always be remembered that this investment trades in stocks, and as such, it is a high-risk investment.
